

Morning Briefing

Monday, 6 July 2026 | Generated ~06:45 BST | London timezone

Data covers: US session Thu 2 Jul (US closed Fri 3 Jul for Independence Day) + European close Fri 3 Jul + Asian overnight Sun–Mon

Post-holiday edition. US markets were closed Friday 3 July. This is the first full trading day back for both US and European markets after the long weekend.

2. IMPORTANT NEWS

SpaceX officially joins the Nasdaq-100 index Monday

Reuters / Bloomberg — 6 Jul 2026

Index funds tracking the Nasdaq-100 must reallocate to include SPCX, a mechanical buy-flow event. SPCX remains volatile post-IPO; watch for outsized moves on rebalancing volume.

OpenAI leaning toward delaying IPO to 2027 after SpaceX's rocky debut

Yahoo Finance / Motley Fool — 2 Jul 2026

CFO Sarah Friar reportedly urging a wait given cash burn and compute commitments. Removes a near-term AI-sector catalyst; keeps pressure on AI infrastructure valuations (NVDA, AMD, memory names) into this week.

Rio Tinto and Glencore resume talks on $260bn mega-merger; copper hits all-time high near $13,000/t

CNBC / Mining.com / S&P Global — 3 Jul 2026

Glencore shares +10% Friday on the news. Would create the world's largest miner, focused on securing copper supply for the energy transition. Sector-wide re-rating risk for M&A-adjacent mining names this week.

Getty Images terminates $3.7bn Shutterstock merger after UK regulator obstacle

CNBC — 6 Jul 2026

Getty's board voted unanimously not to proceed; deal formally terminates by 6 July. Shutterstock shares plunged in premarket Friday. Watch for break-fee disclosure and standalone strategy commentary today.

US jobs report miss reshapes Fed rate-hike odds; weaker payrolls lift Asian equities, pressure dollar

Bloomberg / Reuters — 3 Jul 2026

June nonfarm payrolls added just 57,000, well below the ~110,000 forecast. Fed funds futures now imply roughly 50% odds of a September hike, down from ~67% pre-release. DXY slipped to ~100.8; gold extended its rally toward $4,190/oz.

3. EUROPEAN FUTURES — PRE-OPEN

Source: Reuters premarket wrap, Eurex. Data collected ~06:45 BST Mon 6 Jul. Absolute futures levels not reliably sourced; directional moves per Reuters/Bloomberg premarket commentary.

Index	Last Futures Level	Expected Move (Mon)	Notes
Euro Stoxx 50	n/a	~+0.5%	Premarket futures +0.5% per Reuters; extends Friday record run
Stoxx 600	n/a	~+0.3%	Futures indicated higher; risk-on carryover from Asia
DAX	n/a	Positive	Fourth straight record session Friday; momentum intact
CAC 40	n/a	Positive	Mining/miners in focus on Rio Tinto-Glencore news
FTSE 100	n/a	Positive	Glencore +10% Friday; miners to lead post-holiday open
S&P 500 E-Mini	n/a	Slightly positive	Futures holding onto Friday's gains per Bloomberg
Nasdaq 100	n/a	Mixed	Tech rebound continuing but fund outflows from AI names persist; SPCX index-inclusion flows today

4. YESTERDAY'S CLOSES — FRIDAY 3 JULY 2026

Source: Trading Economics, Investing.com. European markets traded Friday even though US markets were closed for Independence Day.

Index	Level	Change	% Change	Session Note
Euro Stoxx 50	6,417	▲	+0.9%	Fresh record high; AI-trade bounce plus miners
DAX	25,779.31	+198.4	+0.78%	Fourth consecutive record close
CAC 40	n/a	▲	+1.07%	Miners and luxury supportive
FTSE 100	10,679.03	+26.16	+0.25%	Glencore +10% on Rio Tinto merger talk revival
Stoxx 600	653	▲	+0.7%	52-week high; broad-based advance

European stocks rose to new records Friday on an improving macro backdrop, a bounce in AI-exposed names, and the Rio Tinto/Glencore mining M&A story lifting Glencore +10%.

5. US MARKETS — THURSDAY 2 JULY 2026 SESSION

Source: TheStreet, Washington Post, Yahoo Finance. US markets were closed Friday 3 July for Independence Day, so Thursday 2 July is the most recent completed session.

Index	Close	Change (pts)	% Change	Notes
S&P 500	7,483.23	-16.13	-0.22%	Broad market slightly lower into holiday
Nasdaq Composite	26,040.03	-173.69	-0.66%	Tech-led decline; semiconductors weak
Dow Jones	52,305.24	-13.96	-0.03%	Effectively flat; record high touched intraday

Session tone: Cautious into the long weekend. Dow briefly hit a fresh record before fading to flat; broader market drifted lower on thin pre-holiday volume.

Leading sectors: Communication Services (XLC +2.4%) and Financials (XLF +2.2%) were the top gainers; 7 of 11 S&P sectors closed positive.

Lagging sectors: Technology (XLK -2.6%), the worst-performing sector, as chip names extended recent weakness ahead of the holiday.

Key takeaway: Rotation out of mega-cap tech into financials/communication services continued. The June jobs report (57k vs ~110k forecast), released Thursday, lowered September rate-hike odds and supported the rotation.

6. ASIAN MARKETS — OVERNIGHT SESSION (MON 6 JUL)

Source: Bloomberg, CNBC Asia, Investtech. Data collected ~06:45 BST. Note: sources show some disagreement on Kospi's Monday direction — flagged below.

Index	Level	Change	% Change	Session Note
Nikkei 225	~69,500	▼	-0.35%	Tech rebound from last week losing steam; Friday's session was +1.47%
Kospi	~8,020	Conflicting	-0.85% / +1.8% (sources disagree)	Bloomberg reports Kospi leading regional gains +1.8% on tech rebound; other sources show -0.85%. Won began 24-hour trading Monday. Treat with caution pending confirmation.
Hang Seng	~23,495	▲	~+0.6%	Modest gains; opened 23,364
Shanghai Composite	4,046.71	▲	+0.08%	Broadly flat

Tone: MSCI Asia Pacific Index +0.3% Monday per Bloomberg, with the region mostly firmer as US equity futures held Friday's gains and tech extended its rebound. Fund flow data shows US stock funds seeing their fastest AI-related outflows since March, a caution flag for the broader tech trade even as Asian tech names bounced.

7. COMMODITIES

Source: Trading Economics, Investing.com, JM Bullion, Mining.com. Data collected ~06:45 BST Mon 6 Jul.

Commodity	Price	Change	% Change	Context
Brent Crude	$71.92 /bbl	-$0.20	-0.3%	Range-bound; Hormuz shipping remains subdued post-ceasefire
WTI Crude	$68.78 /bbl	+$0.09	+0.1%	Little changed overnight
Gold	~$4,189 /oz	▲	+1.15% (Fri)	Extending rally on weaker jobs data and lower rate-hike odds; near record highs
Natural Gas (Henry Hub)	$3.24 /mmBtu	+$0.05	+1.5%	Modest gain overnight
Copper (LME 3M)	~$13,000 /t	▲	All-time high

Notable: Copper's push to an all-time high near $13,000/t is the standout commodity story, driven both by structural energy-transition demand and this week's Rio Tinto-Glencore merger talk. Gold continues to grind higher as softer US labor data pulls forward rate-cut/lower-hike-odds pricing.

8. RATES & FX

Source: Trading Economics, Federal Reserve H.15, Bundesbank. Data as of ~06:45 BST Mon 6 Jul; US 10Y level is Thursday 2 Jul close (US closed Friday).

Instrument	Level	Change	Notes
US 10Y Treasury Yield	4.46%	-2bp	Fell on weaker June payrolls (57k vs ~110k forecast)
German 10Y Bund Yield	~2.90%	Steady	Holding just above 2.9% on softer Eurozone inflation, reduced ECB hike bets
EUR/USD	~1.143	Stable	Dollar softer post-payrolls; range-bound
GBP/USD	~1.34	Stable	Little changed
DXY (Dollar Index)	100.8	Weak	Slipped after soft jobs report cut September hike odds to ~50% from ~67%

The June US jobs miss is the dominant rates story: it pulled the 10Y down 2bp to 4.46% and knocked the dollar index to 100.8. Fed Chair Kevin Warsh has declined to signal a July move but continues to flag inflation as "too high," keeping a hawkish tail risk alive despite the softer labour print.

9. DCM — PRIMARY BOND MARKET

Source: GlobalCapital, general market commentary. No subscriber-level deal terms were accessible via search; levels below marked n/a where unconfirmed.

YESTERDAY'S ISSUANCES (FRI 3 JUL 2026)

Note: Friday 3 July was a US holiday (Independence Day) and the final session before a long weekend in Europe — typically among the lightest primary windows of the month. No individual deal terms were sourced.

EUR Corporate IG: n/a — no deal terms sourced

EUR HY: n/a

SSA / Sovereign: n/a

Financials: n/a

PIPELINE / EXPECTED TODAY & THIS WEEK (W/C 6 JUL)

Corporate IG: Recent GlobalCapital coverage notes rarer issuers (e.g. Lufthansa, Oncor, TP, EWE) holding investor calls for potential euro deals — a sign issuers are testing the reopened window post-holiday.

SSA: Frontloading expected to continue given elevated 2026 fiscal deficits (notably Germany, France); gross EGB/SSA supply projected near €1.4tn for the year, keeping the primary calendar busy through H2.

Financials: Likely early movers this week as issuers look to lock in funding while EUR IG spreads remain near historical tights.

KEY SPREADS

Index	Level	Move	Direction
iTraxx Main (5Y)	n/a	n/a	No reliable intraday source
iTraxx Crossover (5Y)	n/a	n/a	No reliable intraday source
CDX IG (5Y)	n/a	n/a	No reliable intraday source
Euro IG Corp Avg OAS	n/a	n/a	Broadly described as near historically tight levels

COMMENTARY

The EUR primary market re-opens today after the US Independence Day long weekend into a constructive backdrop: European equities at record highs, spreads described by dealers as near historical tights, and softer US payrolls reducing rate-hike tail risk. Expect issuance to pick up pace through the week as corporates and SSAs look to lock in funding while conditions remain favourable.

Watch financials and industrials as likely first movers, with energy and transport issuers more selective given ongoing volatility in oil prices and freight rates. The window looks open but is not being used aggressively yet on the first day back — a fuller pipeline is more likely from Tuesday.

10. ECONOMIC CALENDAR

Source: Eurostat, Trading Economics, LiteFinance weekly calendar. Times approximate; confirm exact release times before trading.

Time (BST)	Indicator	Consensus	Import.	Notes
~10:00	Eurozone Retail Sales (May)	n/a	MED	Prior (April) was -0.4% MoM, weaker than the -0.3% forecast
All day	SpaceX joins Nasdaq-100	—	MED	Mechanical index-fund reallocation flows into SPCX today
Wed 8 Jul	FOMC June Meeting Minutes	—	HIGH	Market will parse for hints on Warsh's rate-path thinking after soft payrolls
7–8 Jul	NATO Ankara Summit	—	MED	Saab GlobalEye surveillance platform selection expected; defense-sector relevant
Fri 10 Jul	Germany CPI (final, Jun)	n/a	MED	Confirms flash reading; relevant to ECB inflation path
Fri 10 Jul	Delta Air Lines Q2 earnings	—	MED	Opens US Q2 earnings season; airline demand/fuel cost read-through

Context: this is a lighter data week following the US holiday. The bigger swing factor remains follow-through from Thursday's soft June payrolls report and any Fed commentary reacting to it.

11. CORPORATE EVENTS & EARNINGS

Source: Earnings Whispers, Kiplinger, company announcements. 25 companies scheduled to report today per Earnings Whispers; below are the most market-relevant.

Company	Event	Date	Notes
Getty Images / Shutterstock	Merger termination effective	6 Jul	$3.7bn tie-up collapses after UK regulator obstacle
SpaceX (SPCX)	Nasdaq-100 index inclusion	6 Jul	First session as an index constituent
Delta Air Lines	Q2 2026 earnings	10 Jul	Opens US Q2 earnings season
JPMorgan Chase	Q2 2026 earnings	14 Jul	Consensus EPS ~$5.44, up 9.7% YoY; kicks off bank earnings
Netflix / Taiwan Semiconductor	Q2 2026 earnings	16 Jul	Key AI/streaming demand read-throughs
NATO members	Ankara Summit	7–8 Jul	Saab GlobalEye platform decision expected; defense-sector relevant

12. STOCKS TO WATCH — MONDAY 6 JULY

Source: CNBC, Mining.com, S&P Global, analyst notes.

Glencore (GLEN.L) Upside momentum

+10% Friday on renewed $260bn merger talks with Rio Tinto to create the world's largest miner; copper hit an all-time high near $13,000/t on the back of the story.

Rio Tinto (RIO) Upside bias

Counterparty to the Glencore merger talks; copper-exposure and consolidation premium in focus. Watch for confirmatory statements today.

Shutterstock (SSTK) Downside risk

$3.7bn Getty Images merger formally terminated by 6 July after a UK regulator obstacle; shares already plunged premarket Friday, standalone strategy questions today.

SpaceX (SPCX) Watch — mechanical flows

Joins the Nasdaq-100 today, forcing index-tracking funds to buy in; stock has round-tripped most of its post-IPO spike and trades near listing price.

Palantir Technologies (PLTR) Watch — upgrade

DA Davidson upgraded to Buy with a $175 price target, citing growth and the recent dip as a buying opportunity.

Robinhood (HOOD) Watch — target raised

Goldman Sachs raised its price target after record June trading activity and stronger user/revenue growth.

NVIDIA / AMD / Micron (NVDA / AMD / MU) Downside pressure

OpenAI's likely IPO delay to 2027 removes a near-term AI catalyst; US stock funds seeing fastest AI-related outflows since March.

Eli Lilly (LLY) Watch

Traders watching the $50 Medicare obesity-drug deal and the first generic tirzepatide filings as US markets reopen.

Rheinmetall / Saab / Leonardo (RHM / SAAB-B / LDO) Watch

NATO's Ankara summit (7-8 Jul) expected to select Saab's GlobalEye surveillance platform; defense procurement newsflow likely to build through the week.

13. MACRO / CORPORATE / POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

MACRO

US June jobs report: Nonfarm payrolls +57,000, well below the ~110,000 forecast and the fewest in four months. Fed funds futures now price roughly 50% odds of a September hike, down from ~67% before the release.

Fed: Chair Kevin Warsh declined to hint at a July decision at the ECB Forum but reiterated that inflation remains "too high," keeping the door open to further tightening despite the softer jobs print.

ECB: Raised its three key rates by 25bp in June (deposit facility to 2.25%, MRO to 2.40%, MLF to 2.65%), the first hike of this cycle. Eurosystem staff project headline inflation averaging 3.0% in 2026, easing to 2.3% in 2027 and 2.0% in 2028, with the Middle East conflict cited as an inflation driver.

Eurozone PMI: Manufacturing PMI eased to 51.3 in June from 51.6 in May, still in expansion for a fifth month but growth slowing as Middle East-linked supply disruption persists. Composite PMI improved to 49.5, a three-month high, pointing to a smaller contraction in private-sector activity.

CORPORATE

Rio Tinto / Glencore: Resumed talks on a ~$260bn merger to form the world's largest miner, centred on securing copper supply for the energy transition. Glencore +10% Friday.

OpenAI: Leaning toward delaying its IPO from 2026 to 2027 given the volatile public tech market and SpaceX's post-IPO slide; CFO reportedly cited ongoing cash burn and compute infrastructure commitments.

Getty Images / Shutterstock: $3.7bn merger formally terminated after a UK regulatory obstacle; Getty's board voted unanimously not to proceed.

SpaceX: Joins the Nasdaq-100 today; the stock has given up most of its post-IPO gains and trades near its $135 listing price after a volatile first three weeks.

POLITICAL / GEOPOLITICAL

Strait of Hormuz: Shipping traffic remains around 5% of pre-conflict levels even with the Iran ceasefire holding; energy markets continue to price in structural Middle East risk premium.

NATO Ankara Summit (7-8 Jul): Expected to formally select Saab's GlobalEye surveillance platform, a defense-sector-relevant procurement decision this week.

South Korea won trading reform: Seoul launched 24-hour won trading Monday as part of a push to secure developed-market status from MSCI, a structural positive for South Korean market access.

14. KEY THEMES — TOP 5 BY HORIZON

TODAY'S TOP 5 (MONDAY 6 JULY)

1. Post-Holiday Reopening — US Back From Independence Day

First full trading day for the US since Wednesday. Volume and price discovery normalize; watch for any catch-up moves following Thursday's soft jobs report.

2. Rio Tinto-Glencore Mega-Merger Follow-Through

Glencore +10% Friday; today tests whether the mining sector sustains the M&A premium or fades. Copper near record $13,000/t is directly tied to this story.

3. SpaceX Nasdaq-100 Inclusion

Mechanical index-fund buying today. Given SPCX's volatility since its June IPO, flows could produce an outsized intraday move independent of fundamentals.

4. AI/Tech Sentiment After OpenAI IPO Delay Signal

Reports of a 2027 IPO delay, plus the fastest AI-fund outflows since March, keep pressure on chip and AI infrastructure names even as Asian tech saw an overnight bounce.

5. Getty-Shutterstock Deal Collapse

Formal termination today after a UK regulatory obstacle. Watch for break-fee details and standalone guidance from both companies.

THIS WEEK'S TOP 5 (W/C 6 JULY)

1. FOMC June Minutes (Wed 8 Jul)

Markets will parse for how seriously the Fed weighed the softer labour data and what it implies for September.

2. NATO Ankara Summit (7-8 Jul)

Expected Saab GlobalEye platform selection; a live catalyst for European defense names this week.

3. Germany CPI Final (Fri 10 Jul)

Confirms the June flash reading; feeds directly into the ECB's inflation outlook and rate path.

4. Q2 Earnings Season Kicks Off (Delta, Fri 10 Jul)

First major US corporate read on demand, costs and guidance heading into the bulk of Q2 reporting the following week.

5. Rio Tinto/Glencore Deal Progress

Any confirmation, denial, or formal announcement this week would be a major mining-sector catalyst given the scale ($260bn) of the proposed tie-up.

THIS MONTH'S TOP 5 (JULY 2026)

1. US Q2 Earnings Season — Banks First, Then AI Capex Guidance

JPMorgan (14 Jul) opens bank earnings; Netflix and Taiwan Semiconductor (16 Jul) will be closely watched for AI-demand signals after OpenAI's IPO wobble.

2. Fed Rate Path After the Jobs Miss

September hike odds have fallen to ~50%; incoming data through July will determine whether the softer labour market becomes a trend or a one-off.

3. Rio Tinto-Glencore Mega-Merger

A ~$260bn deal would be the largest in mining history and reshape the global copper supply landscape; expect continued newsflow through July.

4. OpenAI IPO Timeline Decision

A firm decision on delaying to 2027 (from 2026) would be a significant read on public-market appetite for AI mega-cap listings.

5. NATO Defense Procurement Follow-Through

The Ankara Summit outcomes and subsequent contract announcements will shape sentiment across European defense names for the rest of the month.

15. KEY TRENDS TO WATCH

1 DAY — MONDAY 6 JUL

US markets reopen after the holiday; watch for catch-up volatility on Thursday's jobs miss

Glencore/Rio Tinto merger-talk momentum: does the mining sector hold Friday's gains?

SpaceX's Nasdaq-100 inclusion triggers mechanical index-fund buy flows

Getty Images-Shutterstock merger termination formalizes; standalone strategy questions

Kospi direction disputed across sources — confirm before trading South Korea exposure

1 WEEK — 6-12 JUL

FOMC June minutes (Wed) parsed for how the Fed is weighing the softer labour data

NATO Ankara Summit (7-8 Jul): expected Saab GlobalEye platform decision, defense-sector relevant

Germany CPI final (Fri) confirms June flash reading, feeds ECB outlook

Delta Air Lines (Fri) opens US Q2 earnings season

EUR primary market reopens post-holiday; watch for the first wave of new mandates

1 MONTH — JULY 2026

US Q2 earnings: banks (14 Jul), then Netflix/TSMC (16 Jul) as key AI-demand signals

Fed rate path: September hike odds near 50% after the June jobs miss, likely to swing on incoming data

Rio Tinto-Glencore ~$260bn merger: confirmation or collapse would be the month's biggest mining-sector event

OpenAI IPO timeline decision (2026 vs 2027) — a bellwether for AI mega-cap listing appetite

Ongoing Strait of Hormuz risk premium: shipping still ~5% of pre-conflict levels despite the ceasefire
