

Morning Briefing — 11 June 2026

ECB DAY

SPCX IPO TONIGHT

Generated: 07:00 BST (08:00 CEST) | London pre-open | Data collected 06:30–07:00 BST

RISK-OFF SESSION: US-Iran conflict escalating. Second day of US strikes on Iran, June 10. Iran retaliated against US military bases.

2. IMPORTANT NEWS

US carries out second day of precision strikes on Iran military infrastructure (June 10)

NPR / CNBC / Reuters

Escalation of US-Iran war. US struck surveillance systems and air-defense sites after an American Army Apache helicopter was downed. Trump threatened to hit Iran "very hard." Brent above $95. Direct risk to Strait of Hormuz (20% of global oil supply).

Iran strikes back: targets US Fifth Fleet, Ali Al Salem and Muwaffaq Salti airbases housing F-35s

Reuters / Wikipedia / Britannica

Direct Iranian retaliation escalates Gulf conflict. Market fears Hormuz closure or disruption. Energy, defense names in sharp focus. Oil up 25%+ since war began.

SpaceX IPO prices tonight: $135/share, $75bn raise, $1.75 trillion valuation — largest IPO in history

CNBC / Bloomberg / Fortune

First trading day June 12 on Nasdaq (SPCX). Fast-track Nasdaq-100 inclusion possible within 15 days, forcing ~$7bn of QQQ/index fund buying. Retail FOMO expected. Selling pressure on existing Nasdaq names as investors raise cash.

ECB Governing Council meets today — markets price 99.6% probability of 25bp hike to 2.25%

Polymarket / Manifold / Trading Economics

Decision at 14:15 CET, press conference 14:45 CET. Hike driven by energy-led inflation from Iran war. Forward guidance on path beyond June is the key market variable today.

Wall Street suffers worst day in weeks: Dow -953 pts (-1.87%), S&P -1.62%, Nasdaq -1.98% on June 10

TheStreet / Reuters

Risk-off across all US sectors. Military escalation reset Fed rate-cut expectations. Chip stocks led losses. Sets negative tone for European open.

3. EUROPEAN FUTURES — PRE-OPEN

Data: ~06:30 BST. All futures continuous front month.

INDEX	LAST	OPEN	DAY RANGE	DIRECTION VS CLOSE	NOTE
Euro Stoxx 50	6,067	6,095	5,998 – 6,117	Negative open / slipping	Barchart sourced

S&P 500 Futures (ES)	n/a	n/a
Nasdaq Futures (NQ)	n/a	n/a

Euro Stoxx 50 futures range of 5,998–6,117 indicates a soft open is expected. The slippage from 6,095 open to 6,067 last as of data capture reflects ongoing selling pressure linked to Iran escalation and negative US close. ECB decision at 14:15 CET adds intraday event risk.

4. YESTERDAY'S CLOSES — European Indices (10 June 2026)

5. US MARKETS — SESSION 10 JUNE 2026

INDEX	CLOSE	CHANGE (PTS)	CHANGE (%)	TONE
S&P 500	7,266.99	—118 pts	-1.62%	Risk-off
Dow Jones	49,918.78	—953 pts	-1.87%	Sharp sell-off
Nasdaq Composite	25,169.50	—508 pts	-1.98%	Worst day since April 2025

SESSION SUMMARY

Tone: Sharply risk-off. US markets suffered their worst single-session loss in weeks as the second round of US military strikes against Iran and Tehran's retaliatory strikes on US bases in the Gulf reset risk appetite. Chip stocks led the Nasdaq lower on fears of energy-cost contagion through the supply chain. Energy was the lone sector outperformer (Brent +4.3%). Consumer discretionary, technology, and financials all fell more than 2%. Dow closed below 50,000 for the first time since May. Key takeaway: the market had priced in a contained conflict; direct US-Iran military exchange changes that calculus.

6. ASIAN MARKETS — OVERNIGHT SESSION (11 June 2026)

NOTE: Most recent confirmed Asian data is from June 4 session. June 11 specific prints not retrieved. Data below is most recent available; treat with caution.

INDEX	LEVEL (LATEST AVAIL.)	% CHANGE	SESSION DATE	DRIVER
Nikkei 225	67,470.69	-1.36%	4 Jun	Iran/oil fears, tracking Wall St
Hang Seng	n/a	-1.31%	4 Jun	Iran/energy risk, Hormuz concerns
Shanghai Composite (CSI 300)	4,904.75	-0.69%	4 Jun	Oil-cost inflation risk
Kospi	8,639.41	-1.84%	4 Jun	Energy import vulnerability, tech risk

Tone: Asia-Pacific broadly negative on the back of US-Iran tensions, oil price surge, and Wall Street losses. South Korea was the hardest hit (energy import exposure, semiconductor demand fears). Japan outperformed slightly. Given the June 10 escalation (second-day US strikes, Iranian retaliation at US bases), markets on June 11 are expected to have opened lower. Specific June 11 prints were not sourced.

7. COMMODITIES

Data: Trading Economics / OilPrice.com / Barchart — collected ~06:30 BST June 11 2026

COMMODITY	LEVEL	CHANGE	% CHANGE	UNIT	CONTEXT
Brent Crude	$95.38	+$3.93	+4.30%	USD/bbl	Up 25%+ since Iran war began. Hormuz disruption fears. Trump threatened Iran escalation.
WTI Crude	$91.55	+$1.52	+1.69%	USD/bbl	US futures. Spread to Brent ~$3.83 reflecting supply risk premium.
Gold (spot)	$4,092.47	+$20.46	+0.50%	USD/troy oz	Safe-haven bid intact amid geopolitical risk. Above $4,000 psychological level.
Copper (HG)	$6.28	-$0.02	-0.34%	USD/lb	Slight dip; demand-outlook concern. Near record highs. Watches China data closely.
Natural Gas (Henry Hub)	$3.14	n/a	n/a	USD/MMBtu	Retreated from 16-week high. Holding losses.
TTF Gas (Europe)	€50.26	+€0.27	+0.53%	EUR/MWh	Elevated. Iran risk = LNG diversion threat. Key input for EU industry costs.

8. RATES & FX

Data: Trading Economics / CNBC / Forex.com — ~06:30 BST

INSTRUMENT	LEVEL	CHANGE	DIRECTION	NOTE
US 10Y Treasury	4.53%	+1bp	Rising	Geopolitical risk + Fed hold-higher narrative. No near-term cut priced.
German Bund 10Y	3.04%	n/a	Watched	ECB hike today — market watching post-decision move. 3.04% is elevated vs 2025.
EUR/USD	1.1537	-0.05%	Mild USD bid	ECB hike largely priced. Post-decision tone depends on Lagarde guidance on terminal rate.
GBP/USD	~1.343	n/a	n/a	Range-bound. UK macro calendar light today.
DXY (Dollar Index)	~100	n/a	n/a	Dollar broadly contained. Iran risk complex: safe-haven vs. oil-shock dynamics.

The ECB decision at 14:15 CET is the dominant intraday rates driver. A 25bp hike to 2.25% is near-fully priced; the market will pivot to Lagarde's guidance. A hawkish hold-and-signal from the press conference would push Bunds wider and support EUR/USD. A dovish-hike (hike but signal pause) could weaken EUR and rally Bunds.

9B. PIPELINE / EXPECTED TODAY (11 JUNE 2026)

Pipeline data not sourced via available search results. Key structural note: European corporate bond market is on track for record issuance in 2026, with strong demand despite geopolitical headwinds. ECB day typically sees reduced primary activity as issuers wait for post-decision clarity.

Window: Likely muted pre-ECB. Post-decision window (14:30–16:00 CET) could open if the hike is clean and guidance non-disruptive. Expect any pipeline to price after Lagarde presser.

9D. COMMENTARY

European primary markets are expected to observe a wait-and-see posture ahead of the 14:15 CET ECB decision. ECB-day issuance historically contracts sharply as book-runners defer mandates. Any post-decision window will depend on Lagarde's guidance tone — a clean 25bp hike with a pause signal is the market base case and would preserve investor appetite. Geopolitical premium from the Iran conflict is elevating risk perception, particularly for energy-sector and industrial names with Gulf exposure. High-grade SSA and bank paper likely more resilient than HY and energy corporates in this environment. Record 2026 supply backdrop continues, but daily execution risk is elevated in current conditions.

10. ECONOMIC CALENDAR — 11 JUNE 2026

London time (BST = CET -1h). Consensus from market expectations sourced during this session.

ECB RATE DECISION TODAY — 14:15 BST / 15:15 CET — 99.6% probability of +25bp to 2.25%

Press conference: 14:45 BST / 15:45 CET. Lagarde guidance on terminal rate is the key variable.

All day	SpaceX IPO (SPCX) pricing event — share price finalized after US close (~21:00 BST)	$135/share target	HIGH
13:15 BST	ECB Governing Council Rate Decision — Deposit Facility Rate	2.25% (from 2.00%)	HIGH

11. CORPORATE EVENTS & EARNINGS — 11 JUNE 2026

- No tier-1 European earnings reports confirmed for June 11 from available sources.
- SpaceX IPO (SPCX) — pricing tonight after US market close ($135/share, $75bn raise). First trading day June 12 on Nasdaq. Not a European event, but dominant global equity theme.
- ECB press conference (14:45 BST) is the dominant corporate-finance event: will determine refinancing conditions for European issuers for H2 2026.
- BW LPG — Q1 2026 dividend announced at US$0.67/share. Earnings surged to $164.28m from $46.09m y/y. Tanker sector positive read-through given Iran-driven Hormuz risk premium.

Specific earnings calendar for June 11 not fully sourced. Check Refinitiv or Bloomberg earnings calendar for complete list.

12. STOCKS TO WATCH — 11 JUNE 2026

Focus: Aviation, Shipping, Metals & Mining, Aerospace & Defense, Banks, Energy

TotalEnergies (TTE FP)	Brent at $95.38, +25% since Iran war started. Earnings upgrade cycle. Direct Gulf exposure. Dividend and buyback capacity expanding at current oil price.	BULLISH
Shell (SHEL LN)	LNG premium from Hormuz disruption risk. European integrated major with highest LNG exposure. Oil price tail wind.	BULLISH
Rheinmetall (RHM GY)	Direct escalation of Iran-US conflict raises NATO defense spending urgency. Rheinmetall is the most leveraged large-cap to European rearmament. Iran conflict accelerates procurement timelines.	BULLISH
BAE Systems (BA/LN)	US F-35 bases struck by Iran; UK/allied defense networks in focus. Order pipeline accelerating. UK defense budget commitments.	BULLISH
Ryanair (RYA ID)	Jet fuel surge on Brent spike directly hits cost base. Ryanair is most exposed low-cost carrier to unhedged fuel cost. Watch for hedge cover disclosure and guidance revision risk.	BEARISH
Lufthansa (LHA GY)	Route network exposure to Gulf and Middle East. Oil price spike raises fuel surcharge uncertainty. Demand headwind if travel risk perception rises.	BEARISH
BW LPG (BWLPG NO)	LPG tanker operator. Hormuz disruption tightens LPG shipping supply. Q1 earnings already surged 256% y/y. Rate spike potential if Hormuz disrupted.	BULLISH
BNP Paribas (BNP FP)	ECB rate hike today — bank NIMs expand. However, sovereign spread widening risk if Iranian conflict escalates to broader European risk-off. Watch spread between ECB decision and press conference.	MIXED
ASML (ASML NA)	Nasdaq-listed analog heavily correlated to US tech. SpaceX IPO tomorrow — index rebalancing flows could create selling pressure on existing Nasdaq-100 weights including ASML ADR. Chip stocks also lagged heavily in US June 10 sell-off.	WATCH / CAUTION
Glencore (GLEN LN)	Copper at $6.28/lb near record highs. Geopolitical instability in key supply regions. Diversified commodity exposure including coal and oil. Iran-risk supports energy division.	BULLISH

13. MACRO / CORPORATE / POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

MACRO

- ECB rate hike expected today (25bp to 2.25%). Iran-driven energy inflation is the direct catalyst — Eurozone CPI pressures re-accelerating after a 2025 decline. Terminal rate debate is open: markets had expected a pause cycle; Iranian shock adds 1-2 more hikes to pricing.
- US Federal Reserve is under pressure to hold rates higher for longer. Original H1 2026 rate-cut expectations fully repriced. Fed funds futures now show no cut until Q4 2026 at earliest.
- Oil above $95/bbl is a direct stagflation risk for Europe — higher energy costs, suppressed growth, sticky inflation. ECB faces a classic supply-shock dilemma: hike into growth weakness or pause into inflation risk.
- US CPI (May) out today at 13:30 BST. Energy component will be the hot print. Any beat on core could further dislodge rate-cut expectations.

CORPORATE

- SpaceX IPO is the dominant equity capital markets event of the year. $75bn raise at $1.75 trillion valuation. Largest IPO in stock market history. Index fast-track rule means Nasdaq-100 inclusion within 15 trading days, forcing $7bn of passive buying. Expect selling of existing Nasdaq weights to fund SPCX allocation.
- Q1 2026 US corporate earnings growth was 28.6% with record 14.8% net profit margins. Strong results season is a cushion but the Iran shock post-dates these numbers — Q2 guidance revisions expected, particularly for energy consumers and airlines.
- European record bond issuance pace in 2026 continues but daily execution window is constrained by ECB-day calendar effect and geopolitical risk premium.
- BW LPG dividend surge (earnings +256% y/y) reflects tanker sector windfall from oil supply rerouting around Hormuz risk.

POLITICAL / GEOPOLITICAL

- US-Iran military conflict (ongoing). US conducted precision strikes day 2 on June 10. Iran retaliated against US Fifth Fleet and F-35 bases in Jordan. Trump threatened further escalation. Strait of Hormuz disruption risk is the core market concern — ~20% of global oil supply transits the strait.
- Diplomatic track: Secretary of State Rubio stated Iran had mined large segments of the Strait of Hormuz. No ceasefire signals. War risks broadening to Gulf states (Bahrain, Kuwait, Jordan already affected per initial search data).
- ECB and G7 central banks face geopolitical-inflation trade-off. Any Hormuz closure would be a systemic shock comparable to 1973 oil embargo in impact on European energy supply.
- SpaceX CEO Elon Musk geopolitical dimension: largest-ever IPO from founder with deep US government ties amid national security crisis creates complex market narrative.

14. KEY THEMES — TOP 5 BY HORIZON

TODAY'S TOP 5

1. ECB Rate Decision (14:15 BST)

25bp hike to 2.25% is priced; Lagarde guidance on the forward path will move EUR/USD, Bunds, and bank stocks in the final hour of European trading.

2. Iran Escalation Fallout

Second-day US strikes + Iranian retaliation = fresh risk-off. Energy, defense outperform; airlines, autos, and consumer laggards face selling pressure.

3. SpaceX IPO Pricing Tonight

$135 target price; any deviation moves Nasdaq at tomorrow's open. Index rebalancing creates known $7bn passive-buying event on Nasdaq-100 within 15 days.

4. US CPI (May) at 13:30 BST

Energy-driven inflation print. A hot number will reinforce Fed hold-higher narrative and hit bond markets before ECB decision.

5. Oil Price Level ($95 Brent)

Brent above $95 is a macro headwind for European industrials, airlines, and chemical names. Energy sector is the direct beneficiary.

THIS WEEK'S TOP 5

1. US-Iran War Trajectory

Whether the conflict escalates to Hormuz blockade or de-escalates toward ceasefire is the single biggest variable for oil, European inflation, and risk assets this week.

2. SpaceX SPCX First Trading Day (June 12)

First day of trading will test retail FOMO vs. institutional allocation. Opening print vs. $135 IPO price sets tone for Nasdaq and IPO market confidence.

3. Post-ECB Rates Repricing

Today's decision and Lagarde presser will set the European rates curve for weeks. Does the ECB signal one more hike or enter a data-dependent pause?

4. US Inflation Data Sequence

CPI today, then PPI/jobless claims later in the week will collectively frame Fed expectations for the June FOMC.

5. Primary Bond Market Window

European issuers waiting for post-ECB clarity; any tightening of spreads post-hike would open a brief issuance window before summer slowdown.

THIS MONTH'S TOP 5

1. Iran War Resolution / Escalation

A ceasefire would collapse oil prices and revive risk appetite for the rest of 2026; sustained conflict could push Brent above $110 and trigger stagflation concerns.

2. SpaceX Nasdaq-100 Inclusion

$7bn forced index buy within 15 trading days of June 12 debut is a structural support for SPCX and a mild drag on all current Nasdaq-100 constituents by weight displacement.

3. ECB Path for Remainder of 2026

Market pricing shifted from rate cuts to rate hikes this year; the terminal rate debate (2.25%? 2.50%?) will define European credit spreads and euro strength for H2.

4. June FOMC Meeting

Fed meeting later in June. Oil shock and CPI data may force a hawkish hold or remove any remaining cut language from the statement.

5. European Defense Spending Reacceleration

Iran conflict + NATO Eastern flank demands accelerating European defense budgets. Defense names (Rheinmetall, BAE, Leonardo, Airbus Defense) remain structural longs for the month.

15. KEY TRENDS TO WATCH

1 DAY

- ECB decision flow: Markets will be quiet pre-14:15 BST, then high-velocity moves on the rate print and Lagarde opening statement. EUR/USD, Bunds, and European bank stocks are the main movers.
- Oil and defense: Any further Iran escalation news will spike Brent toward $97-100 and push defense stocks higher. A ceasefire rumor reverses both sharply.
- US CPI at 13:30 BST: Prints before ECB decision. A hot number could create a dual-shock scenario (Fed hawkish + ECB hawkish) that weighs on equities and pushes rates higher globally.
- SpaceX IPO pre-pricing activity: Roadshow book update could surface in afternoon US time, influencing pre-market Nasdaq tone.

1 WEEK

- SpaceX SPCX open (June 12): Retail FOMO vs. institutional rebalancing will play out over the first two trading days. Watch index weight displacement on Nasdaq-100 names.
- Iran geopolitical calendar: UN Security Council emergency session expected; G7 foreign ministers meeting likely. Any diplomatic de-escalation signal moves oil, defense, and European risk assets.
- EU energy security: Commission likely to convene emergency energy talks if Hormuz risk escalates. Watch LNG spot markets and TTF for supply shock signals.
- Fed communication: FOMC blackout period begins this week ahead of late June meeting. Last public comments from Fed officials shape rate expectations.

1 MONTH

- Iran war outcome: The single dominant macro variable for June. A Hormuz disruption would be a category-1 supply shock for Europe; resolution would be a significant risk-on catalyst.
- ECB terminal rate: Markets are now pricing 2.25–2.50% as the cycle peak. Incoming inflation and growth data will determine whether the hike today is the last or one of several more.
- Nasdaq-100 rebalancing: SpaceX fast-track index inclusion by end of June creates structural flows. The 15-day clock starts June 12.
- European summer primary market window: Issuers historically rush to complete financing before August slowdown. The ECB decision outcome and geopolitical trajectory will determine how wide or narrow this window is.
- Defense sector re-rating: European defense stocks have re-rated significantly YTD. Iran conflict adds another leg to the structural upgrade cycle. Watch for broker target price upgrades to Rheinmetall, BAE, Leonardo, and Airbus Defense.
