

MORNING BRIEFING — THURSDAY 9 JULY 2026

Generated 06:45 London time (BST) · Data collected 05:30-06:40 BST, 9 July 2026

2. IMPORTANT NEWS

Trump declares Iran ceasefire "over", US hits Kharg Island and strikes Strait of Hormuz targets CENTCOM / Al Jazeera / Britannica, 7-8 Jul — the interim truce has collapsed. Kharg Island is Iran's main oil export terminal; IEA calls the disruption the largest in oil market history.

Iran retaliates, firing at Bahrain, Kuwait and Qatar

AP via Yahoo Finance, 9 Jul — conflict widening to Gulf states raises contagion and shipping-lane risk beyond Iran itself.

Brent spikes over 5% to $77.70/bbl on supply-shock fears

Reuters / oilprice.com, 8 Jul — biggest single input into today's inflation and rate-path debate.

Wall Street sells off on Iran headlines: Dow -1.09%, S&P -0.28%, Nasdaq +0.20%

CNBC, 8 Jul — chip-led Nasdaq resilience diverges from broader risk-off in cyclical and industrial.

Fed Chair Kevin Warsh: inflation "too high", declines to guide on rate path CNBC, 1 Jul — September hike odds jumped to 69% from 58% as oil-driven inflation fears build ahead of the 31 July FOMC.

3. EUROPEAN FUTURES (PRE-OPEN)

INSTRUMENT	LEVEL / MOVE	NOTES
Euro Stoxx 50 futures	6,326 (range 6,283–6,338)	Roughly flat vs prior cash close; Eurex/Investing.com, ~06:00 BST
DAX futures	Soft bias, indicative -2.0%	TradingView/Barchart pre-open read; exact contract level n/a
CAC 40 futures	n/a	Not reliably sourced this session; soft bias expected after -1.7% Wed close
FTSE 100 futures	Soft bias, indicative -1.4%	TradingView/Barchart pre-open read; exact contract level n/a
S&P 500 futures	+0.13%	CNBC, pre-market 9 Jul
Nasdaq 100 futures	+0.1%	CNBC, pre-market 9 Jul
Dow futures	+70 pts (~+0.1%)	CNBC, pre-market 9 Jul
VIX	18.08 (+12.1%)	Elevated volatility signal into the European open

US futures point to a stabilising, near-flat open after Wednesday's selloff. European futures carry a softer bias into the cash open as the Iran/Hormuz story continues to develop overnight.

4. YESTERDAY'S CLOSES — EUROPEAN INDICES (8 JUL 2026)

INDEX	CLOSE	CHANGE	SOURCE
Euro Stoxx 50	n/a	n/a	Date-clean close level not reliably sourced this session
DAX	n/a level	-1.7%	Yahoo Finance / CNBC
CAC 40	n/a level	-1.7%	Yahoo Finance / CNBC
FTSE 100	n/a level	-0.9%	Yahoo Finance / CNBC

All three national benchmarks fell as escalating Middle East tensions weighed on sentiment; DAX and CAC led the decline.

5. US MARKETS — YESTERDAY'S SESSION (8 JUL 2026)

INDEX	CLOSE	CHANGE
S&P 500	7,482.71	-0.28%
Dow Jones	52,348.39	-1.09% (-576.76 pts)
Nasdaq Composite	25,870.65	+0.20%

Tone: risk-off after Trump said the Iran ceasefire was "over"; oil's 5%+ jump hit cyclicals and industrials. Leading: energy majors on the crude spike. Lagging: airlines (fuel cost exposure) and industrials. Nasdaq bucked the trend on a partial chip-stock rebound. Key takeaway: geopolitical risk premium back in the market, reviving Fed hike bets via the oil-inflation channel. Source: CNBC, TheStreet.

6. ASIAN MARKETS — OVERNIGHT SESSION (9 JUL 2026)

INDEX	LEVEL	CHANGE
Nikkei 225	67,849.98	+1.6%
Hang Seng	23,762.00	n/a
Shanghai Composite	3,995.17	+0.12%
Kospi	7,616.96	-0.51%

Mixed/resilient overnight despite fresh Iran-US strikes. Tokyo led on a tech rebound (Tokyo Electron +5%, SoftBank +0.4%), offsetting broader oil-driven caution; Kospi softer. Source: CNBC, Yahoo Finance.

7. COMMODITIES

COMMODITY	LEVEL	CHANGE	CONTEXT
Brent crude	$77.70/bbl	+5% (Wed)	Kharg Island strike; IEA: largest oil supply disruption on record
WTI crude	$74.04/bbl	+5.12%	Tracks Brent on Hormuz risk
Gold	~$4,050/oz	-1%+ (Wed)	Fell despite war risk as dollar strength/Fed hike bets dominate; well off Jan 2026 record of $5,597.23
Natural gas (TTF)	~€49.3/MWh	+5%+ (Tue, prior close €46.6)	Northwest Europe heatwave demand plus Hormuz LNG disruption fears
Copper	$6.02/lb	-2.53%	Stronger dollar, weaker manufacturing outlook

8. RATES & FX

INSTRUMENT	LEVEL	CHANGE
US 10Y Treasury	4.58-4.59%	Highest since June 2026
German 10Y Bund	2.92%	Steady; +8bp last week
EUR/USD	~1.143	Softer on dollar strength
GBP/USD	~1.34	Relatively resilient vs EUR
DXY	101.11	+0.09%

Fed September hike probability jumped to 69% (from 58%) on oil-driven inflation concern, pushing US yields to their highest since June.

9. DCM — PRIMARY BOND MARKET

YESTERDAY'S ISSUANCES

Deal-level pricing for 8 Jul not reliably sourced this session — n/a. Context: Honda Motor's inaugural euro bond (priced 3 Jul) helped push weekly euro corporate issuance to €26.7bn; week of 29 Jun–3 Jul saw 45 new public deals price, 40 IG / 3 HY, with 82.5% of IG deals pricing flat-to-tight vs IPT (BVAL data via GuruFocus).

PIPELINE / EXPECTED TODAY

No specific mandates reliably sourced this session — n/a. Issuers typically look to front-load supply ahead of summer blackouts; watch for a slower session given the overnight vol spike.

KEY SPREADS

INDEX	LAST CONFIRMED LEVEL	AS OF	DIRECTION
iTraxx Crossover 5Y	315–320bp	Mid-May 2026 (stale)	RISK: WIDENING
iBoxx EUR HY OAS	340bp	Mid-May 2026 (stale)	n/a today
CDX.NA.HY 5Y	358bp	Mid-May 2026 (stale)	n/a today
iTraxx Main / CDX IG	n/a	n/a	n/a

Current-day spread prints were not available via web search this session; all levels above are last-confirmed and flagged stale. Given VIX at 18.08 (+12%) and the overnight oil shock, expect a more selective primary window today, wider new-issue concessions and slower drive-bys, particularly for energy-adjacent and transport credits.

10. ECONOMIC CALENDAR (9 JUL 2026)

LONDON TIME	INDICATOR	CONSENSUS	IMPORTANCE
n/a	No releases reliably sourced this session	n/a	N/A Defense names rallying on renewed Iran conflict; Lockheed hit an all-time high. Source: Forbes, Euronews.

Exxon Mobil / Chevron / Occidental / Diamondback Energy / APA Corp — Up

US energy majors and E&Ps gaining on the Brent/WTI spike. Source: Yahoo Finance.

Equinor / Repsol / Woodside Energy / PetroChina — Up

Non-US energy majors extending gains alongside the crude rally.

American Airlines / United / Delta / Southwest / JetBlue — Down

Airlines pressured by fuel-cost exposure as the ceasefire collapse repriced oil risk; American down ~4%, United ~2.5%.

Tokyo Electron / SoftBank — Up

Leading the Nikkei's overnight tech rebound (+5% and +0.4% respectively).

Shipping / tanker operators — WATCH

War-risk insurance for Hormuz transits up to ~4,000x pre-crisis levels; tanker traffic through the strait down ~95% since late Feb. Specific listed names not reliably sourced this session — n/a.

PepsiCo (PEP) — WATCH

Q2 print today; multiple sell-side target cuts set a low bar into the release.

13. MACRO / CORPORATE / POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

MACRO

Fed Chair Kevin Warsh: inflation "too high", no July guidance given.

September Fed hike odds jumped to 69% from 58% on oil-driven inflation risk.

US 10Y yield at its highest since June 2026 (4.58–4.59%).

CORPORATE

Honda's inaugural euro bond helped drive weekly euro issuance to €26.7bn.

PepsiCo reports Q2 today against a lowered bar.

Energy majors (Exxon, Chevron, Equinor, Repsol) extending gains on the oil spike.

POLITICAL / GEOPOLITICAL

Iran ceasefire declared "over"; US strikes Kharg Island and Hormuz-area targets.

Iran retaliates against Bahrain, Kuwait and Qatar — regional widening risk.

Strait of Hormuz transit down ~95% since 28 Feb; US government backstopping war-risk insurance.

14. KEY THEMES — TOP 5 BY HORIZON

TODAY'S TOP 5

1. Iran-US escalation follow-through — further strikes or retaliation could reignite yesterday's selloff.
 2. PepsiCo Q2 earnings — read-through for consumer staples demand into a soft macro backdrop.
 3. Oil price path — Brent above $77 tests inflation and rate-path assumptions.
 4. US futures stabilisation — watch whether the calm pre-market tone holds into the cash open.
 5. Credit primary market — will issuers price into a VIX-at-18 backdrop, or does the window shut?

THIS WEEK'S TOP 5

1. Hormuz shipping/insurance developments — war-risk premiums and traffic data are a live inflation and freight-cost input.
2. US macro data flow — specific releases n/a this session; treat as a watch item pending confirmation.
3. European earnings ramp — pace picking up toward the end-of-July peak.
4. Fed commentary — speakers positioning ahead of the 31 Jul FOMC.
5. Euro IG/HY primary pace — following the Honda-led €26.7bn week.

THIS MONTH'S TOP 5

1. ECB rate decision, 23 Jul — non-projection meeting; statement and Lagarde presser are the only communication tools.
2. Fed FOMC, 31 Jul — decision under Chair Warsh amid rising hike-probability pricing.
3. Peak Q2 earnings season — over 90% of Stoxx 600 market cap due to report by end-August; last week of July busiest.
4. Iran war / Hormuz resolution risk — the single largest swing factor for oil, gas and inflation expectations.
5. Credit spread direction — whether iTraxx/CDX levels re-price wider if oil stays elevated.

15. KEY TRENDS TO WATCH

1 DAY

Iran conflict headlines, oil follow-through, PepsiCo earnings reaction, and whether the soft European futures bias holds into the cash open.

1 WEEK

Hormuz shipping/insurance market evolution, pace of primary bond issuance, Fed speakers ahead of the 31 Jul FOMC, and the European earnings ramp.

1 MONTH

ECB (23 Jul) and Fed (31 Jul) decisions, peak Q2 earnings season, the resolution path of the Iran conflict and its inflation/growth implications, and credit spread direction if oil stays elevated.
