London pre-open

1. HEADER

Tuesday 13 October 2026. Generated 06:45 BST (Europe/London). Data collected approx. 05:15 to 05:45 UTC (06:15 to 06:45 London). Prior session = Monday 12 October. US bond market was closed Monday (Columbus Day).

2. IMPORTANT NEWS

Kospi plunges about 6% to 7% below 6,000 on chip rout. [Investing Live, NBC, CNBC]

Why it matters: Samsung and SK Hynix hit by CXMT competition fears and AI-boom doubts. Nikkei -2.5%. Contagion risk for global semis and the Nasdaq.

Brent settles $106.65 (+1.8%) after Houthi strike on Riyadh airport. [Reuters, CNBC]

Why it matters: Saudi supply fears outweighed the Trump-announced Russia-Ukraine energy truce, which Zelenskiy says Russia has violated. Energy inflation channel is pushing yields and the dollar.

Dollar index at highest since April 2025 (about 102.5 to 102.6); EUR/USD near 1.1154 to 1.1180. [FXStreet, FXEmpire]

Why it matters: Safe-haven and oil-importer demand for USD. French spread worries weigh on the euro.

US Q3 earnings start today: JPMorgan, Goldman, Citi, Wells Fargo, UnitedHealth, J&J. [CMC Markets, Schwab]

Why it matters: First read on bank credit and deal activity. US CPI follows on Wednesday.

US 10Y at 5.24% (last settled); one source puts it above 5.3%. [Trading Economics, Nuveen, Substack]

Why it matters: Yield level near cycle highs keeps pressure on equity multiples and credit.

5. US MARKETS: YESTERDAY'S SESSION (12 OCT)

Index	Close	Change	% change
S&P 500	7,807.24	-4.30	-0.06%
Dow Jones	51,850.55	+195.60	+0.38%
Nasdaq Composite	27,245.90	-120.27	-0.44%
Russell 2000 (context)	2,794.48	-12.50	-0.45%

Tone: mixed, cautious ahead of earnings and Wednesday CPI. Leaders: Energy. Laggards: Technology (-1.25%), Consumer Discretionary (-0.53%). Micron fell about 3.9% on CXMT competition worries. Takeaway: defensives and oil beneficiaries held up while semis led the drag. Source: AP, Yahoo Finance, CNBC.

6. ASIAN MARKETS: OVERNIGHT SESSION (13 OCT)

Index	Level (approx.)	% change
Nikkei 225	67,292	-2.5%
Hang Seng	24,034	-1.0%
Shanghai Composite	3,755	-1.0% (other source -1.2%)
Kospi	5,979	-6.3% (later reports about -7%)

Tone: risk-off, chip-led. Drivers: China CXMT memory advances, doubts over the AI rally, higher oil and yields. Samsung -7.7%, SK Hynix -8.8%; Kospi sell-side sidecar triggered. China ChiNext -3%, CSI 300 -1.3%. Levels are intraday or near close and may differ from final prints.

7. COMMODITIES

Commodity	Level	Change	Basis
Brent	$106.65 (settle 12 Oct); $105.86 now	+1.8% on 12 Oct; -0.74% today	Reuters/CNBC; Trading Economics
WTI	$93.74 (settle 12 Oct); $93.26 now	-0.51% today	Trading Economics
Gold	$4,168.78/oz	-0.60%	Trading Economics, 12 Oct
Natural gas	$3.17/MMBtu	-1.57%	Trading Economics, 12 Oct
Copper	$6.70/lb	+0.89%	Trading Economics, 12 Oct

Brent is driven by Houthi attacks on Saudi Arabia (Riyadh airport, tankers) and the contested Russia-Ukraine energy truce. Trump diesel deal would add over 4 million tons of Russian diesel. Gold quotes range about $4,169 to $4,183 by source.

8. RATES & FX

9. DCM: PRIMARY BOND MARKET

YESTERDAY'S ISSUANCES

n/a. No IFR or GlobalCapital deal-level data found in this session, so no issuer, size, maturity, coupon or IPT-to-pricing figures are reported. Monday had a thin US bond market (holiday).

PIPELINE / EXPECTED TODAY

n/a for corporate mandates. Sovereign: German Bund auction on 14 Oct (Deutsche Finanzagentur). EU Commission next auction 26 Oct.

COMMENTARY

Window likely open but selective. A recent US IG commentary (Nuveen) notes supply fell short of forecasts on earnings blackouts and rate uncertainty, with deals that priced well oversubscribed. Today's Asia chip rout, oil near $106, and a 5%+ US 10Y argue for wider concessions and a cautious tone in HY and Crossover. Energy and transport issuers face headline risk from the Middle East. Analyst view, not sourced deal data.

10. ECONOMIC CALENDAR (LONDON TIME)

Time	Indicator	Consensus	Importance
n/a	Germany CPI final (Sept)	about 3.3% y/y (week-ahead preview, date unconfirmed)	Medium

n/a	Fed speakers: Hammack, Barkin, Collins; IMF/World Bank meetings Bangkok	n/a	Medium

Wednesday 14 Oct: US CPI (headline consensus about 3.6% y/y, core 2.5%). Exact times were not sourced.

11. CORPORATE EVENTS & EARNINGS

US: Reports before US open: JPMorgan (about 12:00 London; EPS consensus $5.82 to $5.91, revenue about $51.3bn, options-implied move +/-3.6%), Goldman Sachs, Citigroup, Wells Fargo, UnitedHealth, Johnson & Johnson. Domino's Pizza also listed. Source: CMC Markets, Admirals, Schwab, FX Leaders.

Europe: n/a. No European earnings or AGM schedule found in this session.

12. STOCKS TO WATCH

Company	Reason	Probable direction
Samsung Electronics / SK Hynix	Kospi rout, CXMT competition, AI doubts (-7.7% / -8.8% in Seoul)	Down, European semis (ASML, Infineon, STMicro) at risk of sympathy weakness
Micron	Fell about 3.9% Monday on CXMT worries	Down
JPMorgan, Goldman Sachs, Citigroup, Wells Fargo	Q3 earnings today; JPM options-implied move +/-3.6%	Two-way; European banks follow read-across
UnitedHealth, Johnson & Johnson	Q3 earnings today	Two-way
European energy majors (Shell, BP, TotalEnergies, Equinor)	Brent about $106 on Saudi attacks	Up, if Brent holds
Airlines and aviation (IAG, Lufthansa, Air France-KLM)	Fuel at $106 Brent and Riyadh airport attack (analyst view)	Down
Defence (Rheinmetall, BAE, Thales)	Gulf escalation and contested Ukraine energy truce (analyst view)	Up
Miners (Glencore, Rio Tinto, Antofagasta)	Copper $6.70/lb, +0.89%; gold -0.6%; China -1% (analyst view)	Mixed Directional calls are analyst judgement. Only the cited moves are sourced data.

13. MACRO / CORPORATE / POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

MACRO

Fed raised its target range to 3.75% to 4.00% in September; Chair Warsh appears with IMF chief Georgieva on Thursday.

US CPI Wednesday: consensus about 3.6% y/y headline (from 3.4%), core 2.5%. A print at or above 3.6% would pressure yields.

Eurozone final CPI Friday; BoE Governor Bailey speaks Friday; UK August GDP Thursday.

CORPORATE

Q3 US earnings season opens with big banks; FactSet sees S&P 500 earnings growth about 29.5% y/y.

Bank of America and Morgan Stanley report Wednesday.

Memory chip names under pressure on CXMT competition.

POLITICAL / GEOPOLITICAL

Houthi missile attack on Riyadh airport: reports of 12 to 18 dead; further strikes on Monday night.

Trump-announced Russia-Ukraine energy ceasefire is unconfirmed by Moscow and Kyiv; Zelenskiy says Russia violated it.

Saudi Arabia studying raising pipeline crude export capacity to 10 million bpd.

European Council meets in Brussels Thursday and Friday; French fiscal risk weighs on euro.
